Not unless necessary. I have been on medical monitoring for years, it goes from year to year, so essentially I am always cleared, unless I miss a year, or unless I fail a physical.

David - It may take a week before the doctor sees and clears you. Do you want to wait until then to be deployed?

After your med monitoring tomorrow however, there are community involvement tasks you can perform if you'd like.

Mike,

I am field certified and am current with medical monitoring, and in fact have my annual physical scheduled for Wednesday morning, 8/12. Lydia Johnson, my supervisor has okayed me deploying. I could leave Wednesday night or Thursday morning (Thrs morning would be best) if needed.
